

Velox

A paper type imaging material created by using a large printers camera and exposing the paper to light through a lens. Used for camera ready logos, halftones. Virgin fiber that has never been used before in the manufacture of paper or other products.