

How many business cards are in a box?

It all depends...

Many "quick print" type printers use a standard stock (or card) for all their printing, at Fineline however we use a large variety of stock to ensure we match your corporate look and give you an individual product (your business isn't "off-the-shelf" so why should your printing be "off-the-shelf").

As each different stock is a different thickness we cant say exactly how many cards are "in a box".

We can however supply any quantity of cards that you require even if we need to put them in more than one box.